ABOUT MALAYSIA

Malaysia, a Southeast Asian gem, captivates with its stunning beaches, verdant rainforests, and vibrant cultural blend of Malay, Chinese, Indian, and indigenous peoples. Malaysia's history dates back to ancient Malay kingdoms and trading ports, influenced by Indian, Chinese, and later Islamic cultures. Malaysia gained independence from British rule on August 31, 1957. Malaysia is divided into two main regions: Peninsular Malaysia, located on the Malay Peninsula, and East Malaysia, situated on the island of Borneo.

STATE IN MALAYSIA

Malaysia is a federal constitutional monarchy consisting of 13 states and 3 federal territories. The states are divided into two main regions: Peninsular Malaysia and East Malaysia (on the island of Borneo). Governance of the states is divided between the federal and the state governments, with different powers reserved for each, and the Federal government has direct administration of the federal territories.

RACES AND ETHNICITY

Malaysia boasts a vibrant ethnic tapestry, with Malays, Chinese, and Indians forming the primary groups. This diverse blend is further enriched by indigenous communities from Sabah and Sarawak, the Orang Asli of Peninsular Malaysia, and the culturally unique Peranakan and Eurasian communities. Additionally, a dynamic expatriate population adds to the cultural richness, making Malaysia a lively and truly multicultural society.
